

Claudia Leyde, M Ed. – Executive Coach
– Matterhorn Consulting, LLC

Claudia Leyde has more than twenty-five years experience in the management and administration of non-profit, social service organizations. She has significant experience dealing with difficult people, issues and circumstances in a style that enables individuals to maximize the potential of their current employment status. She has also assisted organizations with development and restructuring of programs and services as required by financial and regulatory changes.

After receiving a Sherpa Executive Coaching Certification (CSC) - widely recognized as one of the most credible training and certifications available for top level coaching and leadership development - from Penn State University Executive Program, Claudia specializes in coaching executives who want to maximize their time and resources in order to become more effective in their individual leadership roles. Claudia Leyde is a graduate of Westminster College of New Wilmington, Pennsylvania with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Sociology. She has also obtained a Master of Education from Slippery Rock University and has done post graduate studies in systems and organizational management.

Claudia has served in many capacities on the Boards of several local, regional and statewide organizations in Pennsylvania and Ohio and she currently directs a private, non-profit organization serving children and families. She is an avid reader and lifelong equestrian who lives in Western Pennsylvania with her husband, dog and a number of horses. She also has a daughter residing in New York City.
